About the role

Copyright Agency conducts surveys to understand what and how much copyright material is copied each year by its licensees. Over its history, the data from Copyright Agency's surveys have been used to make payments in excess of $1 billion to creators and publishers of print material.

An opportunity exists for a Research Consultant to join Copyright Agency's research team to assist with the management of the copyright surveys and Copyright Agency's centralised market research activities. This is a permanent, part-time position reporting to the Research Manager.

The successful candidate will be responsible for:

- End-to-end project management of key copyright surveys
- Presenting to school teachers/principals at interstate survey training sessions
- Providing analysis, research reports and insights
- Consulting with internal and external stakeholders
- Management of ad hoc research projects
- Designing basic surveys
- Conducting surveys using SurveyMonkey

About you

The following skills, qualifications and experiences are essential:

- At least five years' experience working in a market research environment (agency and/or clientside)
- Knowledge of qual and quant research methodologies
- Exceptional interpersonal and stakeholder management skills
- Confident public speaker, communicator and presenter
- Analytical and report writing skills
- Strong attention to detail

About Us

The Copyright Agency | Viscopy collects fees and distributes royalties to ensure that its more than 40,000 creator and publisher members get fairly rewarded when their work is copied. The business is transforming fast to be contemporary and digital.

We manage the schools and universities copying schemes, the Federal, State and Territory government copying schemes, the Resale Royalty scheme for artists, and the special provisions for institutions assisting people with print disabilities – all by Australian Government appointment.

Businesses demonstrating best practice governance, secure commercial licences from us for improved compliance and seamless work flow.

We also have agreements with International Affiliates to license the use of foreign content here, and collect licence fees for Australian content used overseas.

The Copyright Agency provides philanthropic support to Australia's cultural community through our grants program, the Cultural Fund.
