Flexible access to copyright-protected content

The Copyright Agency is making it even easier to use copyright-protected text and images.

We've worked with international company Kortext to develop a new online product called Flex, which makes the task of preparing course reading material simpler and faster for librarians and educators. In the UK, librarians from more than 100 educational institutions use a similar product which has been widely praised.

Developed in partnership with librarians

Flex has been successfully trialled in libraries at a number of private colleges in Australia and is now an inclusion* as part of your annual Copyright Agency licence.

COPYRIGHTAGENCY

The Australian Government has appointed the Copyright Agency to manage the education copying scheme (Statutory Education Licence). The licence, set out in the Copyright Act 1968, allows educators to copy and share text and images in ways that usually require permission provided that fair payment is made to the creators of content. The Copyright Agency has individual agreements with more than 1,000 private education providers.
