

Copyright Licence for Religious Organisations

When religious organisations use poems, prayers and other literary content to enhance their services they might breach copyright laws by inadvertently copying and sharing content without permission.

Most literary works are covered by copyright. If your religious organisation copies and shares text and/or images that were created by others, you'll usually need permission from the copyright owner to do so. This includes content such as:

- Poems
- Prayer books
- Hard copy and online newspapers; and magazine articles.

Our Copyright Licence for Religious Organisations protects your religious organisation from the risk of copyright infringement. It gives your religious organisation the freedom to copy and share third party literary content; and use that content in your religious services. As we pay royalties to the creators whose works you reuse, you'll foster the creation of new content which will benefit your organisation and congregation in the future.

Your licence:

- Allows your parish to use literary works in common religious worship. You can use content on overhead projectors, digital presentations and in photocopied handouts.
- Covers your congregation for the use of literary works in Sunday or Sabbath Schools and in bible study groups. Enhance Sunday or Sabbath School and Bible Study with our members' content.
- Saves you from having to negotiate licence fees with individual copyright owners. One annual licence fee allows your organisation to copy and share content from millions of sources.
- Provides real compliance. Relying on fair dealing and library exceptions leaves considerable copyright compliance gaps and a false sense of compliance.
- Reduces your risk of being brought into copyright dispute. Protect your reputation and avoid potential litigation expenses.
- Supports creators. With the licence fees you pay, you'll help foster the creation of new content which will benefit others in the future.
